1/ Arizona - If employer is self-insured, employer may choose physician, except in emergencies.

2/ Arkansas- Employee may petition for a one-time change-of-physician.

3/ California - While employer has initial selection of physician, employee can change to physician of own choosing after 30 days, and any worker who pre-designates a personal physician prior to injury can go to that physician after injury. However, only employees who have employer provided health coverage can predesignate. Note that rules for Health Care Organizations, the managed care component of California's workers' compensation system, gives employers longer periods of control of medical care.

4/ Connecticut - An employee has initial choice of physician only if employer does not have a managed care plan established.

If the insurer has not entered into such a contract, the injured employee may choose his treating physicians and chiropractors that DIR has established. If the injured employee is dissatisfied with his initial treating doctor, he may choose an alternative physician or chiropractor within 90 days after his injury.
